Grammar

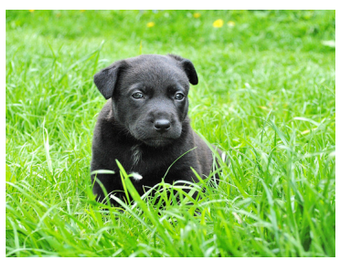
Possessive Adjectives

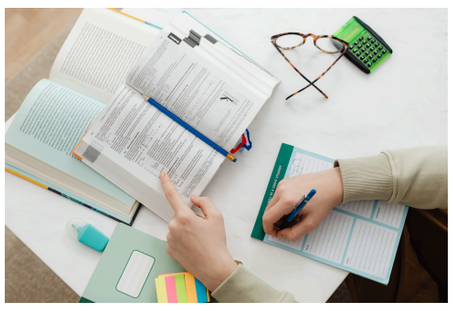
Possessive Adjectives are mainly used to indicate that something belongs to or is part of someone. We also use them to express relationships of kinship, friendship, or work (people or animals) and to talk about parts of the human body.
Possessive adjectives always go before a noun

Examples

- My car is very old.
- Her boyfriend is very friendly.



- Our dog is black.



- Their homework is on the table.

Like all adjectives in English, they are always located directly in front of the noun they refer to. (Possessive Adjective + Noun)
We do not include an S to the adjective when the noun is plural like in many other languages.

Here's a table to help you remember how to use possessive adjectives

		Subject Pronouns	Possessive Adjectives
Singular	1st person	I	my
	2nd person	you	your
	3rd person	he she it	his her its
Plural	1st person	we	our

His phone buzzes all day.
"-es" is added to verbs ending with "-z."

EXAMPLES

He washes the windows on Fridays.

She teaches English to six students.

He blushes when he's embarrassed.

COMMON MISTAKES FORMING THE PRESENT SIMPLE

When the present simple is used with "he," "she," "it," or one person's name, it always ends in "-s" or "-es."

An "s" is added to the base form "start."

He starts work at 11am.

He start work at 11am.

"Start" without an "s" is only used for "I," "you," "we," and "they."

There is no need to add the auxiliary verb "do" when forming the present simple. It is only used to form questions and negatives.

I eat lunch at noon every day.

I do eat lunch at noon every day.

"Do" is only used as an auxiliary verb when forming negatives or questions.

NEGATIVES WITH OTHER VERBS IN THE PRESENT SIMPLE

For verbs other than "be," "do not" or "does not" goes before the verb to make the negative

I work outside.

I do not work outside.

He works inside.

He does not work inside.

Verb in base form.

HOW TO FORM

SUBJECT	"DO / DOES" + "NOT"	BASE FORM	REST OF SENTENCE
I / You / We / They	do not	work	outside.
He / She / It	does not

The base form is used no matter what the subject is.

FURTHER EXAMPLES

You do not have a computer.

He does not live in Los Angeles.

We don't start work at 8am.

He doesn't have a car.

This is the contracted form of "does not."

COMMON MISTAKES FORMING NEGATIVE SENTENCES

The main verb in a negative sentence always stays in its base form, even if the subject is "he," she," or "it."

He does not work outside. ✓

He does not works outside. ✗

QUESTIONS WITH "DO" AND "DOES"

For questions with verbs other than "be," start the question with "do" or "does." Don't swap the subject and the main verb.

You work in an office.

Do you work in an office?

Add "do" to questions with "I," "you," "we," and "they."

She works in a school.

Does she work in a school?

Add "does" to questions with "he," "she," and "it."

The main verb goes in its base form.

"DO / DOES"	SUBJECT	BASE FORM OF VERB	REST OF SENTENCE
Do	I / you / we / they	work	in an office?
Does	he / she / it

The verb never takes an "-s" or "-es" when you ask a question.
